SECOND AMENDED JOINT PROPOSED PRETRIAL ORDER

Pursuant to the Court's Guidelines for Trial and Final Pretrial Conference in Civil Jury Cases, the parties submit the following Second Amended Joint Proposed Pretrial Order.

I. CLAIMS AND DEFENSES THAT REMAIN TO BE DECIDED

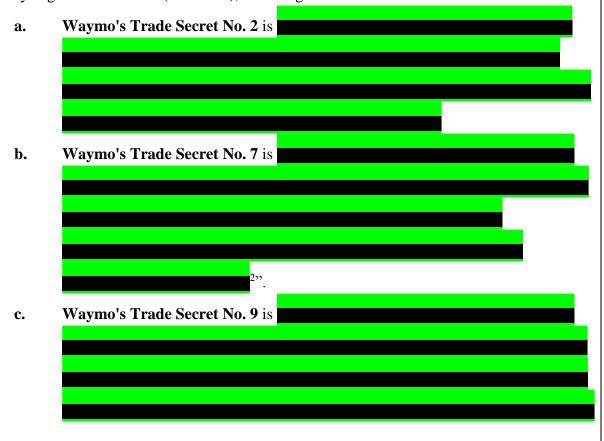

A. Waymo's Submission

Two of Waymo's claims for relief remain to be decided. First, Waymo asserts a violation of the Defend Trade Secrets Act, 18 U.S.C. § 1836(b)(1). (FAC Claim 1.) Waymo claims that Uber and Ottomotto improperly acquired, used, or disclosed Waymo-owned information relating to its self driving car technology, including custom LIDAR systems that are used to enable the operation of fully self-driving vehicles. This information comprises one or more of the identified Waymo-owned trade secrets, including Waymo LiDAR designs, and one or more of these Waymo-owned trade secrets are related to a product or service used in, or intended for use in, interstate or foreign commerce. Waymo has taken reasonable measures to keep such information secret and confidential. Waymo has at all times maintained stringent security measures to preserve the secrecy of its trade secrets, and Waymo's trade secret information derives independent economic value from not being generally known to, and not being readily ascertainable through proper means by, another person who could obtain economic value from the disclosure or use of the information. Defendants' misappropriation of Waymo's trade secret information was intentional, knowing, willful, malicious, fraudulent, and oppressive.

Second, Waymo asserts a claim of violation of California Uniform Trade Secret Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 3426 et seq. (FAC Claim 2.) Waymo claims that Uber and Ottomotto improperly acquired, used, or disclosed Waymo-owned information relating to its self driving car technology, including custom LIDAR systems that are used to enable the operation of fully self-driving vehicles. This information comprises one or more of the identified Waymo-owned trade secrets, including Waymo LiDAR designs, and one or more of these Waymo-owned trade secrets were trade secrets at the time of the misappropriation. Waymo has undertaken efforts that are reasonable under the circumstances to maintain the secrecy of the trade secrets at issue. Defendants knew or should have known under the circumstances that the information misappropriated by Defendants were trade secrets. Defendants misappropriated and threaten to further misappropriate trade secrets at least by acquiring trade secrets with knowledge of or reason to know that the trade secrets were acquired by improper means, and Defendants are using and threatening to use the trade secrets acquired by improper means without Waymo's knowledge or consent. The aforementioned acts of Defendants were willful, malicious and fraudulent. As detailed in Waymo's recent Offer of Proof (Dkt 2466-3), Defendants have systemically attempted and continue to attempt to conceal their misappropriation of Waymo's trade secrets.

Pursuant to this Court's Order (Dkt. 563), on August 1, Waymo elected nine trade secrets it would present at trial. They are described in Waymo's trade secret list, provided before discovery began in this matter (Dkt. 25-7), including:

¹ No other Waymo claims currently remain for trial. Waymo's patent infringement claims (FAC 3, 4, 5, 6) were dismissed by stipulation. (Dkt. 449, 1550.) Waymo's unfair competition claim (FAC 7) was dismissed by order of the Court. (Dkt. 576.) Otto Trucking was dismissed as a defendant in this case. (Dkt. 2151.)

² As described with more particularity in Dkt. 335-4.

Case 3:17-cv-00939-WHA Document 2520 Filed 01/23/18 Page 5 of 16

B. Uber's Submission

Uber Technologies, Inc., and Ottomotto LLC (together, "Uber") deny Waymo's claims. Uber independently developed all of the technology and know-how it uses, and thus has a complete defense to Waymo's claims. In addition, the alleged trade secrets are not protectable trade secrets under either the DTSA or CUTSA. Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to protect the alleged trade secrets, and they do not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or readily ascertainable. Uber has not misappropriated any of the alleged trade secrets. Uber did not acquire the alleged trade secrets by improper means.

Significantly, Waymo did not plead a claim based on "disclosure" of the alleged trade secrets and should not be permitted to advance such a claim at trial. Waymo likewise never pleaded theories of liability based on ratification or agency, or any theory of vicarious liability. For example, Waymo never pled that MoFo or Stroz "used" or "disclosed" the alleged trade secrets, or that Uber improperly "disclosed" trade secrets to vendors. Even now, Waymo has never disclosed a theory of damages stemming from the alleged disclosures by Uber to its vendors or from any alleged use or disclosure by MoFo or Stroz. Waymo should not be permitted to argue such unpled theories at trial. Moreover, even if such claims had been pled, Uber denies that it is vicariously liable for any misappropriation by any other person or entity, or liable under principles of agency or ratification under trade secret law.

Even if Uber is found to have misappropriated Waymo trade secrets (which it has not), Waymo has not suffered any damages as a result of Uber's conduct. Neither Uber nor Waymo has commercialized their autonomous vehicle technologies. For that reason, Waymo admits that it has not lost any profits. For the same reason, Uber has not gained any profits, and thus cannot have been unjustly enriched. Indeed, the Uber technologies that Waymo claims constitute trade secret misappropriation have never even been commercially deployed on a vehicle. There is zero revenue associated with any of that technology. Moreover, Waymo's alleged damages are speculative and based on unreliable expert testimony and thus not recoverable. In addition, even if Waymo were able to show that any trade secrets had been misappropriated, it would be fully protected by the injunction it seeks, and a damage award would be nothing more than a windfall.

Waymo is not entitled to present any reasonable royalty evidence to the jury because a reasonable royalty, if any, should be determined by the Court. Waymo's decision not to include its damages theories—much less the required computation of damages—in its initial disclosures also precludes it from offering any evidence of damages.

Alternatively, if the Court permits Waymo to pursue damages, then Waymo should not be entitled to injunctive relief. Any injury to Waymo is not immediate or irreparable, Waymo has an adequate remedy at law, and both the balance of hardships and the public interest favor no injunction. Moreover, the monetary relief Waymo seeks, if granted, would preclude the grant of any injunction (and likewise, as explained above, the injunctive relief Waymo seeks, if granted, would preclude any damages). In no circumstances should Waymo be permitted to seek a windfall award of (supposed future) damages while also enjoining the conduct alleged to cause those future damages.

Uber also notes that Waymo may not bring any claim under DTSA for acts of misappropriation that occurred before DTSA's enactment on May 11, 2016. As a result, Waymo's theories of liability based on acquisition—all of which relate to events before May 2016—cannot proceed under DTSA.

Uber makes the following statement about each alleged trade secret ("ATS"):

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 2, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 2.⁴ Uber independently developed the designs that Waymo accuses of using ATS 2. ATS 2 is not a trade secret, including because Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to keep ATS 2 secret and because ATS 2 does not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or ascertainable by the public or others who could make economic use of it. To the contrary, ATS 2 is readily ascertainable through proper means. No

⁴ Uber disagrees that Waymo is entitled to trial of its claims to the extent they are predicated on disclosure of the alleged trade secrets or to trial of its theories of liability to the extent they are predicated on ratification or agency, because Waymo did not plead those issues in its Amended Complaint. See generally Dkt. 23. Out an abundance of caution, however, Uber also denies that it unlawfully disclosed ATS 2, or any other alleged trade secret, and denies that it unlawfully acquired, used or disclosed ATS 2, or any other alleged trade secret, by ratification or through its agents.

remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 2; (ii) Uber has implemented a design-around that even more clearly avoids use of ATS 2; (iii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iv) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (v) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 7, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 7. Uber independently developed the designs that Waymo accuses of using ATS 7. ATS 7 is not a trade secret, including because Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to keep ATS 7 secret and because ATS 7 does not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or ascertainable by the public or others who could make economic use of it. To the contrary, ATS 7 is generally known or readily ascertainable through proper means. No remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 7; (ii) Uber has implemented a design-around that avoids use of ATS 7; (iii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iv) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (v) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 9, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 9. 6 Uber independently developed the designs that Waymo accuses of using ATS 9. ATS 9 is not a trade secret, including because Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to keep ATS 9 secret and because ATS 9 does not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or ascertainable by the public or others who could make economic use of it. To the contrary, ATS 9 is generally known or readily ascertainable through proper means. No remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 9; (ii) Uber has contracted a third-party firm to independently develop a substitute for the component alleged to use ATS 9; (iii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iv) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (v) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

⁵ See note 4 supra.

⁶ See note 4 supra.

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 13, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 13. Uber independently developed the designs that Waymo accuses of using ATS 13. ATS 13 is not a trade secret, including because Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to keep ATS 13 secret and because ATS 13 does not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or ascertainable by the public or others who could make economic use of it. To the contrary, ATS 13 is generally known or readily ascertainable through proper means. No remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 13; (ii) Uber is implementing a design-around that avoids use of ATS 13; (iii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iv) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (v) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 14, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 14. We ber independently developed the designs that Waymo accuses of using ATS 14. Moreover, ATS 14 is not a trade secret, including because Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to keep ATS 14 secret and because ATS 14 does not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or ascertainable by the public or others who could make economic use of it. To the contrary, ATS 14 is generally known or readily ascertainable through proper means. No remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 14; (ii) Uber is implementing a design-around that even more clearly avoids use of ATS 14; (iii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iv) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (v) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 25, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 25.9 Uber independently developed its own test scenarios and LiDAR requirements. Moreover, ATS 25 is not identified with adequate specificity to qualify as a trade secret. No remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 25; (ii) Uber has never acquired or used ATS 25; (iii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iv) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (v) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

⁷ See note 4 supra.

⁸ See note 4 supra.

⁹ See note 4 supra.

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 90, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 90. Uber independently developed the designs that Waymo accuses of using ATS 90. Moreover, ATS 90 is not a trade secret, including because Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to keep ATS 90 secret and because ATS 90 does not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or ascertainable by the public or others who could make economic use of it. To the contrary, ATS 90 is generally known or readily ascertainable through proper means. Uber also argues that ATS 90 is not identified with adequate specificity to qualify as a trade secret. No remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 90; (ii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iii) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (iv) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

Uber denies that it misappropriated ATS 111, and specifically denies that it has unlawfully acquired or used ATS 111. Uber independently decided not to develop a system of the sort referenced in ATS 111. Moreover, ATS 111 is not a trade secret, including because Waymo has not taken reasonable measures to keep ATS 111 secret and because ATS 111 does not derive independent economic value from not being generally known or ascertainable by the public or others who could make economic use of it. No remedy is proper, because (i) Uber did not misappropriate ATS 111; (ii) Uber has never acquired or used ATS 111; (iii) Uber has not been unjustly enriched; (iv) no reasonable royalty is appropriate; and (v) Waymo cannot meet the prerequisites for injunctive relief.

II. RELIEF SOUGHT

A. Waymo's Submission

Waymo seeks the following relief:

¹⁰ See note 4 supra.

¹¹ See note 4 supra.

1		1.	That the Court award judgment in Waymo's favor and against Defendants on all
2	causes of action.
3		2.	That the Court award Waymo damages in an amount to be further proven at trial.
4		3.	That the Court permanently enjoin Uber, Ottomotto LLC, and/or Otto Trucking
5	LLC, it	s agen	ts, servants, employees, attorneys, and all others in active concert or participation
6	with th	e Defe	ndants, from misappropriating Waymo's trade secrets.
7		4.	That the Court award Waymo exemplary damages.
8		5.	That the Court award Waymo attorneys' fees and costs.
9		6.	That the Court award Waymo such other and further relief as this Court may deem
10	to be ju	ıst and	proper.
11		В.	Uber's Submission
12		1.	Judgment in favor of Uber and Ottomotto and against Waymo on all claims.
13		2.	Judgment that Waymo shall recover nothing from Uber or Ottomotto;
14		3.	Judgment that no injunction shall run against Uber or Ottomotto;
15		4.	Judgment dismissing Waymo's claims against Uber and Ottomotto with prejudice;
16		5.	An award of attorneys' fees under Cal. Civ. Code § 3426.4 or
17	18 U.S.C. § 1836(b)(3)(D);
18		6.	An award of costs under Cal. Civ. Code § 3426.4 and 18 U.S.C. § 1920;
19		7.	An award of damages for wrongful enjoinment, and execution of Waymo's
20	preliminary injunction bond; and
21		8.	Such other and further relief to Uber and Ottomotto as the Court may deem just
22	and pro	per.
23	III.	STIP	ULATED FACTS
24		The pa	arties jointly stipulate as follows:
25		1.	Plaintiff Waymo LLC is a subsidiary of Alphabet Inc. with its principal place of
26	busines	ss locat	ted in Mountain View, California 94043.
27		2.	Defendant Uber Technologies, Inc. is a Delaware company with its principal place
28	of busin	ness at	1455 Market Street, San Francisco, California.

1	3. Defendant Ottomotto LLC (f/k/a 280 Systems Inc.) is a Delaware limited liability
2	company with its principal place of business located at 737 Harrison Street, San Francisco,
3	California.
4	4.	Anthony Levandowski is a former employee of Google who worked on its self-
5	driving car	program.
6	5.	Anthony Levandowski was Uber's Vice President of Engineering for 7	approximat	ely nine months and was in charge of Uber's self-driving vehicle program during that
8	time.
9	6.	Anthony Levandowski was CEO and a founder of Ottomotto LLC.
10	7.	Levandowski left Waymo on January 27, 2016.
11	8.	As of August 2016, Uber had not deployed a LiDAR that was designed in-house.
12	9.	Uber fired Anthony Levandowski on May 26, 2017.
13	IV. FAC	CTUAL ISSUES THAT REMAIN TO BE TRIED
14	The	parties continue to dispute the following issues. Where fewer than all parties agree
15	that a factua	al issues remains to be tried, the propounding party is indicated in brackets.
16	Waymo's R	Reasonable Measures to Keep Its Alleged Trade Secrets Secret:
17	1.	Whether Waymo takes reasonable measures to protect its trade secrets.
18	Waymo's Alleged Trade Secrets Are Not Generally Known or Readily Ascertainable:
19	2.	Whether any of Waymo's asserted trade secrets are generally known in the 20	relevant field, or are readily ascertainable.
21	3.	Whether any of Waymo's asserted trade secrets derive independent economic
22	valu	ne from their secrecy.
23	Misappropriation of Waymo's Alleged Trade Secrets:
24	4.	Whether Uber or Ottomotto misappropriated any of the alleged trade secrets by
25	improperly acquiring, then ¹² disclosing ¹³ or using any of the alleged trade secrets in
26	viol	ation of the DTSA or CUTSA.
27	¹² [Waymo] Waymo disagrees that it must show both improper acquisition and either
28	disclosure or use in order to prove its claim for trade secret misappropriation. Although the (Footnote continues on next page

- a. [Uber] Whether Uber intended to secure dominion over any of the alleged trade secrets, as opposed to passively or inadvertently coming into possession of any alleged trade secret.
- 5. Whether Uber or Ottomotto acquired any of the alleged trade secrets while knowing or having reason to know that Uber or Ottomotto, or the person from whom Uber or Ottomotto acquired the alleged trade secret, used improper means to acquire it.
- 6. Whether any of the attendant circumstances required for misappropriation by use existed, including, at the time of any use:
 - a. Whether Uber or Ottomotto acquired knowledge of an alleged trade secret by improper means;
 - b. Whether Uber or Ottomotto knew or had reason to know that its knowledge of an alleged trade secret came from or through a person who had acquired the alleged trade secret through improper means; or
 - whether Uber or Ottomotto knew or had reason to know that its knowledge of an alleged trade secret came from or through a person who had a duty to keep secret the alleged trade secret.
- 7. Whether Uber or Ottomotto used any of the alleged trade secrets under circumstances that constitute misappropriation by use.
- 8. Whether Uber or Ottomotto independently developed any of the designs or know-how accused of using the alleged trade secrets.
- 9. Whether any misappropriation of the alleged trade secrets is ongoing.

Court's penultimate tentative jury instructions include an instruction requiring such a showing to support Waymo's recovery of unjust enrichment damages (Waymo will object to that instruction in its January 29, 2018 jury instruction submission), Waymo can prove its claim for trade secret misappropriation by showing that Defendants improperly acquired one or more Waymo trade secrets, irrespective of any use or disclosure. A jury finding of misappropriation based solely on Defendants' improper acquisition is sufficient for the Court to enter permanent injunctive relief.

¹³ [Uber] Uber and Ottomotto disagree that Waymo is entitled to trial on a disclosure theory. See note 4 supra.

Joint and Several/Vicarious Liability
10. [Waymo] Whether Uber and/or Ottomotto are liable for trade secret misappropriation based on the actions of Anthony Levandowski, Stroz Friedberg, and/or Morrison & Foerster.
Willful and Malicious Trade Secret Misappropriation
11. Whether any misappropriation of Waymo's trade secrets by Uber or Ottomotto was willful and malicious.
Damages
12. Whether Uber or Ottomotto was unjustly enriched by any misappropriation of the alleged trade secrets by Uber or Ottomotto, and if so, the amount of that unjust enrichment.
13. [Waymo] What amount of damages for a reasonable royalty Waymo is entitled to as a result of any misappropriation of Waymo's trade secrets by Uber or Ottomotto.
14. [Waymo] To the extent any misappropriation of Waymo's trade secrets by Uber or Ottomotto was willful and malicious, the amount of exemplary damages that should be awarded.
Affirmative Defenses
15. [Uber] Whether Waymo made any claim of misappropriation of any of its 121 alleged trade secrets in bad faith.
Issues to be Tried to the Court
16. [Uber] Should the jury find misappropriation and that it was willful and malicious, the Court will decide whether to award exemplary damages and, if so, what amount.
17. [Uber] Because Waymo has not timely or properly disclosed percipient witnesses to testify regarding its damages, and because this Court has stricken Waymo's damages expert, there is no basis for a jury to award damages in this case. Further, Waymo has failed to proffer sufficient evidence upon which objective, non-speculative, and properlyapportioned damages could be awarded. See, e.g., Oracle Corp. v. SAP AG, 765 F.3d 1081, 1089, 1093 (9th Cir. 2014).

18. [Waymo] Waymo disagrees with Uber's position. In its order excluding Michael Wagner, the Court expressly said that Waymo would be allowed to present damages evidence to the jury and argue its damages case in closing. (Dkt. 2166.) And when Uber raised this issue at the November 14, 2017 hearing, the Court again confirmed that Waymo will be allowed to introduce damages evidence. (11/14/17 Hr'g Tr. at 85-89.) Waymo has good cause to add a limited number of witnesses to its witness list in light of the Court's exclusion of Waymo's damages expert, Michael Wagner. Waymo submitted a précis on this subject on November 26, 2017 (Dkt. 2270), which the Court granted on November 27. (Dkt. 2274.) Waymo subsequently submitted its motion to supplement its trial witness list on November 29 and is currently awaiting the Court's ruling. Waymo is also meeting and conferring with Uber regarding the authenticity and admissibility of certain exhibits it plans to admit through an Uber Custodian of Records.

- 19. [Uber] Whether Waymo is entitled to a reasonable royalty for any misappropriation of the alleged trade secrets, and if so, the amount of that royalty.
- 20. [Uber] The amount of any of reasonable attorney's fees awarded to any party.
- 21. Whether Waymo would be irreparably harmed absent an injunction.
- 22. Whether Waymo has an adequate remedy at law.
- 23. Whether the balance of hardships favors granting or denying an injunction.
- 24. Whether the public interest favors granting or denying an injunction.

V. EXHIBIT AND WITNESS LISTS

The parties attach their Second Amended Joint Exhibit List as Appendix A. Waymo's Fourth Amended Witness List for its case-in-chief witnesses is attached as Appendix B. Defendants' Objections to Waymo's Fourth Amended Witness List is attached as Appendix C. Uber and Ottomotto's Second Amended Witness List for its case-in-chief witnesses is attached as Appendix D. Waymo's Objections to Uber and Ottomotto's Second Amended Witness List is attached as Appendix E.

Waymo reserves the right to amend or supplement the Joint Proposed Pretrial Order and Joint Exhibit List and its Witness List based upon newly produced evidence.

1	Uber and Ottomotto also reserve the right to amend or supplement the Joint Proposed
2	Pretrial Order and Joint Exhibit List and its Witness List based upon newly produced evidence.
3	VI. MISCELLANEOUS
4	1. The parties agree that witnesses may be given a binder or binders containing
5	copies of the exhibits to be used during their examinations, rather than the original exhibits in the
6	courtroom. The examining party shall give the opposing side the opportunity to inspect the
7	exhibit binder before it is handed to the witness to ensure that both sides agree that the binders
8	contain correct copies of the original exhibits. The parties respectfully request the Court's
9	approval to do so.

Final Pre-Trial Conference in Civil Jury Cases Before the Honorable William Alsup.

Plaintiff Waymo LLC ("Waymo") hereby provides its fourth amended witness list and anticipated testimony of each witness it may present at trial other than solely for impeachment

- separately identifying those the party expects to present and those it may call if the need arises.

Waymo further reserves the right to call any witness on any of Defendants' witness lists, further including any of the witnesses identified by Defendants or Waymo on any subjects identified by

WAYMO'S FOURTH AMENDED WITNESS LIST

Case 3:17-cv-00939-WHA Document 2520-2 Filed 01/23/18 Page 22 of 22

Waymo's witness list includes many witnesses not included on any of its timely Rule 26(a)(1) disclosures. For most of the witnesses whom Waymo did disclose under Rule 26, Waymo has drastically expanded the topics on which those witnesses are expected to testify beyond that which was timely disclosed. Defendants' specific objections are summarized below and a chart is attached as Exhibit A to assist the Court.²

Witnesses Not Previously Disclosed

Prabir Adarkar

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Adarkar, an Uber employee who was never previously disclosed in any of Waymo's timely Rule 26 disclosures. Mr. Adarkar was not timely disclosed, in violation of FRCP 26(a)(1), and should be excluded pursuant to FRCP 37(c)(1).

Shawn Bananzadeh

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Bananzadeh, a Waymo employee who was never previously disclosed in any of Waymo's timely Rule 26 disclosures. Mr. Bananzadeh was not timely disclosed, in violation of FRCP 26(a)(1), and should be excluded pursuant to FRCP 37(c)(1). Waymo improperly added him to its "will call" list even though this Court has made it clear that if he is allowed to testify at all, if would only be in rebuttal: "If they use the 30(b)(6) deposition in any way before the jury, through an expert or directly read in, then he gets to come back and explain it in your rebuttal case, but not in your case-in-chief. In other words, you can't use him in your case-in-chief because he's a new witness." (Tr., 10/26/17, 12:1-7.) Waymo's motion to supplement its witness list with Mr. Adarkar and Mr. Bananzadeh, and Defendants' opposition thereto, are pending before the Court.

22

25 26

¹ Waymo served a new set of initial disclosures on January 19, 2018---the same day it served its Fourth Amended Witness list and two weeks before trial. These disclosures are untimely, as they come almost seven months after the Court's June 21, 2017 deadline for all initial disclosures, and should be stricken. See Dkt. 625 at 71-72.

² These objections do not impact Defendants' ability to call any of the following witnesses that it has disclosed in its initial disclosures or learned about through Waymo's discovery on the topics that Defendants have identified in their witness lists.

Defendants object to the calling of these Waymo employees because they were not timely disclosed, in violation of FRCP 26(a)(1), and should be excluded pursuant to FRCP 37(c)(1). Waymo's failure to disclose them was not substantially justified. Moreover, Waymo knew that many of these employees were centrally involved in Mr. Levandowski's termination or the ensuing investigation yet failed to timely disclose them. In fact, the failure to disclose some employees involved in the investigation, such as Sasha Zbrozek, is notable, considering the evidence they possess undercutting Waymo's case.

Bill Gurley

If Mr. Gurley is permitted to testify, the Court has limited his testimony pursuant to Docket No. 1885, as follows: "Bill Gurley may testify as to his own percipient knowledge regarding his tenure as a member of Uber's board of directors (and possibly other facts) but may not speculate about matters outside of his percipient knowledge. No evidence or argument about Benchmark's lawsuit against Travis Kalanick will be permitted, except that defendants may use that lawsuit for impeachment purposes." Dkt. No. 1885 at 4.

Arturo Gonzalez

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Gonzalez because he was not timely disclosed, in violation of FRCP 26(a)(1), and should be excluded pursuant to FRCP 37(c)(1).

Defendants further object to the anticipated testimony of Mr. Gonzalez pursuant to FRE 403 because the prejudice his presence as a witness would cause Uber and Ottomotto substantially outweighs any probative value of his testimony. The Court has already suggested that as trial counsel, Mr. Gonzalez should not be associated with the legal work done in connection with the Uber-Otto transaction. July 26, 2017 Hr'g. Tr. at 15-16. Moreover, Mr. Gonzalez should be excluded under FRE 602 because he was not involved in the underlying events of the dispute and therefore any testimony he could offer would not be relevant under FRE 402.

Neel Chatterjee

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Chatterjee because he was not timely disclosed, in violation of FRCP 26(a)(1), and should be excluded pursuant to FRCP 37(c)(1).

Defendants further object to the anticipated testimony of Mr. Chatterjee, because the prejudice his presence as a witness would cause Uber and Ottomotto substantially outweighs any probative value of his testimony. Otto Trucking is no longer a defendant in this case, and Goodwin Procter has never been Uber's or Ottomotto's counsel. Moreover, Waymo seeks to call Mr. Chatterjee on litigation-related topics such as the "chain of custody of Anthony Levandowski's personal laptops," which is unrelated to the underlying events of the dispute and would pose a danger of confusing the issues before the jury.

Matthew Blattmachr

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Blattmachr because he was not timely disclosed, in violation of FRCP 26(a)(1). The proposed subject of his testimony is Mr. Levandowski's ownership of other companies, including presumably including any links to Tyto LiDAR. But Waymo has been pursuing Mr. Levandowski's links to Tyto LiDAR since close to the inception of this case (if not prior to it) and its failure to disclose Mr. Blattmachr is not substantially justified.

Witnesses For Whom Waymo Seeks to Introduce New Topics

John Bares

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Bares on the subject of "the acquisition of Otto; and Mr. Levandowski's employment milestones" because these subjects were not identified by Waymo in its timely initial disclosures. The omission is not substantially justified. In fact, Waymo took Mr. Bares's deposition prior to the deadline for initial disclosures and questioned him on the very topics it now seeks to include in his trial testimony.

Gary Brown.4

Defendants object to the questioning of Mr. Brown on the subject of "Google/Waymo's reasonable efforts to maintain the secrecy of its electronic systems, digital document storage repositories, and computer networks, including but not limited to the SVN server." Brown is Waymo's employee and it chose to only disclose him on the topic of Waymo's forensic investigation into Mr. Levandowsi, Mr. Kshirsagar, and Mr. Raduta, while choosing to disclose another witness on the topic of its efforts to maintain secrecy, Mr. Janosko. Waymo's failure to disclose Mr. Brown on this topic is not substantially justified. Moreover, Mr. Brown's deposition testimony reflects that he lacks personal knowledge about many of these subjects.

Dmitri Dolgov

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Dolgov on the subject of "the Chauffeur Bonus Plan." Mr. Dolgov is Waymo's employee and it chose to only disclose him for other topics. Waymo's failure to disclose this topic is not substantially justified.

Pierre-Yves Droz

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Droz regarding "the confidentiality of its designs and measures to keep them secret, the contents of Waymo's SVN server, and communications with Anthony Levandowski regarding Uber and formation of Otto." Mr. Droz is a Waymo employee and Waymo only disclosed Mr. Droz on the topics of Waymo's "development and operation of Waymo's self-driving cars and autonomous vehicle technology, including LiDAR; [and] the design and development of certain of Waymo's asserted trade secrets." The newly proposed topics were known as subjects of this litigation to Waymo at the time of the disclosures and the failure to disclose them is not substantially justified.

John Gardner

Defendants object to Waymo questioning Mr. Gardner about "Ottomotto and Otto Trucking; the Uber-Otto acquisition; [and] Mr. Levandowski's businesses," or about "destruction of relevant evidence." Before the initial disclosures were due, Waymo knew that Mr. Gardner

⁴ See below regarding objections to Mr. Brown as an "expert."

DEFENDANTS' OBJECTIONS TO WAYMO'S FOURTH AMENDED WITNESS LIST

Case No. 3:17-cv-00939-WHA

sf-3861018

served as counsel for Mr. Levandowski in connection with the Otto acquisition and related due diligence and as a personal attorney for Mr. Levandowski. Its failure to disclose these new topics is not substantially justified. Moreover, testimony about Mr. Levandowski's "businesses" should be excluded to the extent it is irrelevant or unfairly prejudicial. See FRE 402, 403.

Defendants also object to Waymo questioning Mr. Gardner about "Tyto LiDAR," a topic disclosed for this witness for the first time on November 15, 2017. Waymo has been pursuing the issue of Mr. Levandowski's links to Tyto since at least April 2017—well before the initial disclosures were due. Its failure to disclose Mr. Gardner on the topic is not substantially justified.

Dan Gruver, Gaetan Pennecot, Asheem Linaval, and Don Burnette

These witnesses are current Uber engineers who formerly worked at Waymo. They were initially disclosed as potential witnesses by Waymo only concerning "matters that concern misappropriation of trade secrets." Waymo now seeks to add for each of these witnesses testimony about "the development of Waymo's self-driving car technology, including its LIDAR." Waymo should be precluded from eliciting testimony beyond the disclosed topic of the specific trade secrets alleged to have been misappropriated. Had Waymo wanted to question its former employees about their work for Waymo, it timely could have and should have disclosed that subject. Waymo's failure to disclose these topics is not substantially justified.

Defendants further object to the inclusion of testimony about Waymo's "planner software" with respect to Mr. Burnette. Software is not at issue in this case; permitting testimony on this topic would cause unfair prejudice and pose a danger of confusing the issues before the jury. See 10/26/2017 Hr'g Tr. at 40 (THE COURT: "When we get into code, it's going to be harder and harder for the jury to put their arms around this case.").

Jeff Holden

Defendants object to Waymo's questioning of Mr. Holden regarding Uber's "autonomous vehicle program before the Otto acquisition; negotiations with Mr. Levandowski regarding the acquisition; Mr. Levandowski's consulting work; facts surrounding Mr. Levandowski's continued employment with Uber and termination" because these were not timely identified in Waymo's initial disclosures. Waymo only disclosed Mr. Holden on the topic of "matters that concern

1 misappropriation of trade secrets" but was aware of Mr. Holden's role as a business person involved with the Otto acquisition well before the deadline for initial disclosures. Waymo's 2 3 failure to disclose these topics is not substantially justified. Travis Kalanick 4 Defendants object to Waymo questioning Mr. Klanick regarding the following topics: 5 6 Uber's solicitation of Google and Waymo employees; discussions with, knowledge about, Levandowksi, discussions with the Board 7 and Benchmark partners concerning the Otto acquisition, Mr. Levandowski, and the relationship between the facts 8 surrounding this case and his termination; negotiations with Mr. Levandowski regarding the founding of Ottomotto and Otto 9 Trucking, and Otto acquisition; the Uber-Otto acquisition; solicitation of Google/Waymo employees; . . . Levandowski's 10 employment and continued employment at Uber; and destruction of relevant evidence. 11 Waymo only disclosed Mr. Kalanick as a potential source of testimony regarding the broad and 12 13 unhelpful topic of "matters that concern misappropriation of trade secrets." Certainly, given his role, Waymo knew or should have known Mr. Kalanick's involvement in the acquisition of Otto 14 and his negotiations with Mr. Levandowski. Waymo's failure to disclose these topics is not 15 16 substantially justified. Moreover, any testimony regarding solicitation of Google/Waymo employees should also 17 18 be excluded under Rules 402 and 403 because it is irrelevant, unfairly prejudicial, and will tend to 19 confuse the jury. Moreover, any testimony about Benchmark should be excluded pursuant to FRE 403 for 20 21 the reasons stated in Defendants' motion in limine (No. 24). Dkt. No. 1548. 22 Anthony Levandowski 23 In addition to Defendants' already-briefed objections to the calling of Mr. Levandowski as unfairly prejudicial, Defendants object to Waymo questioning Mr. Levandowski on the following 24 25 topics for which he was not disclosed in Waymo's timely initial disclosures: development of Waymo's self-driving car technology, including its 26 LIDAR designs and the development of Waymo's trade secrets, engineering practices of Waymo and the LIDAR team regarding the 27 confidentiality of its designs and measures to keep them secret, his performance at Waymo, the contents of Waymo's SVN server, and communications with Google employees regarding Uber and formation of Otto; Uber's driverless car program; Uber's solicitation of Google and Waymo employees; the relationship between the facts surrounding this case and his termination; negotiations regarding the founding of Ottomotto and Otto Trucking, and Otto acquisition; the Uber-Otto acquisition; . . . Levandowski's employment and continued employment at Uber; and destruction of relevant evidence. Waymo further identifies those subjects identified in Waymo's Statement Regarding Questions it Intends to Ask Anthony Levandowski at Trial. Dkt. 835.

Waymo only identified Mr. Levandowski as a potential source of testimony regarding "matters that concern misappropriation of trade secrets." Given its allegations against Mr. Levandowski in the Complaint and Motion for Preliminary Injunction, Dkts. 23 & 24, Waymo knew that Mr. Levandowski had potentially relevant information about these other topics. Waymo's failure to disclose these topics is not substantially justified.

Moreover, any testimony regarding solicitation of Google/Waymo employees should also be excluded under Rules 402 and 403 because it is irrelevant, unfairly prejudicial, and will tend to confuse the jury.

Brian McClendon, Cameron Poetszcher, and Nina Qi

Defendants object to the questioning of these witnesses regarding any topics that do not directly concern "matters concerning the misappropriation of trade secrets," the only disclosed subject for these witnesses. Although the new subjects for each witness identified by Waymo vary slightly, they have been all generally designated to testify about such topics as:

- "Negotiations with Levandowski regarding founding Ottomotto and Otto Trucking";
- "Contacts between Uber and Mr. Levandowski regarding the formation of Ottomotto/Otto Trucking";
- "Uber's solicitation of Google/Waymo employees";
- "The benefits Uber would obtain via those acquisitions";
- "the Uber-Otto acquisition";
- "Levandowski's employment and continued employment at Uber";
- "discussions with, knowledge about, Levandowksi";
- "discussions with the Board and Benchmark partners concerning the Otto acquisition, Mr. Levandowski"; and

• "the relationship between the facts surrounding this case and his termination."

From well before the date initial disclosures were due, Waymo knew that each of these individuals was involved in a business role and the Otto acquisition. Its failure to timely identify these topics is not substantially justified.

Moreover, any testimony regarding solicitation of Google/Waymo employees should also be excluded under Rules 402 and 403 because it is irrelevant, unfairly prejudicial, and will tend to confuse the jury.

Moreover, any testimony about Benchmark should be excluded pursuant to FRE 403 for the reasons stated in Defendants' motion in limine (No. 24). Dkt. No. 1548.

Rhian Morgan

Defendants object to Waymo's questioning Ms. Morgan regarding the "founding and business of Ottomotto and Otto Trucking [and] Uber's acquisition of Otto." Waymo only disclosed Ms. Morgan as a potential source of testimony regarding "matters that concern misappropriation of trade secrets." Waymo's failure to disclose these topics is not substantially justified.

Lior Ron

Defendants object to Waymo questioning Mr. Ron about the "founding of Ottomotto and Otto Trucking; the Uber-Otto acquisition" and "the business and product development of Ottomotto and Otto trucking." Before the initial disclosures were due, Waymo knew Mr. Ron was a co-founder of Otto and Otto Trucking and should have disclosed these topics then. Waymo's failure to disclose these topics is not substantially justified.

Ognen Stojanovski

Defendants object to Waymo's questioning Mr. Stojanovski about Tyto LiDAR, Otto's acquisition of Tyto, or communications with Mr. Levandowski about Tyto. Waymo did not disclose these topics in its timely initial disclosures. Waymo has been pursuing the issue of Mr. Levandowski's links to Tyto since at least April 2017. Waymo's failure to disclose these topics for Mr. Stojanovski is not substantially justified.

Bryan Salesky

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Salesky regarding "Mr. Levandowski's performance as a Google/Waymo employee" and "certain of Mr. Levandowski's communications with Uber prior to his departure from Google/Waymo." Mr. Salesky was only disclosed by Waymo as a witness having information about "matters that concern the development and operation of Waymo's self-driving cars and autonomous vehicle technology" and "matters that concern misappropriation of trade secrets by Defendants." Mr. Salesky was a senior Waymo employee during the events in question and the newly proposed topics were known as subjects of this litigation to Waymo at the time its initial disclosures were due. Waymo's failure to disclose these topics is not substantially justified.

Chris Urmson

Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Urmson regarding "Mr. Levandowski's performance as a Google/Waymo employee and circumstances surrounding his termination from Google; Chauffer Bonus Plan" and "Waymo valuation(s)." Mr. Urmson was only disclosed by Waymo as a witness having information about "matters that concern the development and operation of Waymo's self-driving cars and autonomous vehicle technology." Mr. Urmson was a senior Waymo employee—for a period the most senior—during the events in question, and the newly proposed topics were known as subjects of this litigation to Waymo at the time its initial disclosures were due. Waymo's failure to disclose these topics is not substantially justified.

Salle Yoo

Defendants object to Waymo's questioning Ms. Yoo about the "continued employment and termination of Anthony Levandowski." Waymo did not include this as a topic for Ms. Yoo in its timely initial disclosures despite being aware as of May 30, 2017, that Ms. Yoo signed the letter terminating Mr. Levandowski. Waymo's failure to disclose this topic is not substantially justified. Moreover, any proposed testimony on the topic of the Stroz Report would be

⁵ In addition to being produced in this case, the termination and letter were widely reported in news. See https://www.washingtonpost.com/news/the-switch/wp/2017/05/30/uber-fires-star-engineer-anthony-levandowski-at-the-center-of-self-driving-car-battle/?utm_term=.58c08e1e3232

1	unnecessarily cumulative under Rule 403. Finally, Defendants object to the newly-disclosed
2	topic for Ms. Yoo of "Uber management's lack of deference to the legal department or legal
3	advice." Not only was this topic not timely disclosed, but it would almost certainly seek to
4	invade and improperly draw objections regarding the attorney-client privilege and should
5	therefore be excluded under FRE 403.
6	Rudy Kim and Eric Tate
7	Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Kim and Mr. Tate because their testimony will be
8	cumulative and waste the jury's time. See FRE 403.
9	Adam Bentley
10	Defendants object to Mr. Bentley's testimony as unduly cumulative and likely to waste
11	the jury's time. See FRE 403.
12	Max Levandowski and Daniel Ratner
13	Defendants object to the calling of Mr. Levandowksi and Mr. Ratner for any subjects
14	beyond the scope permitted by the Court in its October 26, 2017 ruling on Waymo's Motion to
15	Amend. See 10/26/2017 Hr'g at 13:9-14 ("You can add them to your list for trial, but it's limited
16	to testimony that came out of the Stroz report or something that was newly produced in that time
17	period after the Stroz report. And you cannot get off into other subjects in your case-in-chief.").
18	Undisclosed Damages Testimony
19	Waymo's November 12, 2017 Offer of Proof Regarding Reasonable Royalty Damages
20	suggests that ten witnesses who were either not disclosed or disclosed for other purposes by
21	Waymo will now become Waymo's damages witnesses. These witnesses include John Krafcik,
22	Dmitry Dolgov, Jennifer Haroon, Dan Chu, Nina Qi, Prabir Adarkar, Pierre-Yves Droz,
23	Lambertus Hesselink, and Jeff Holden. Defendants object to any such testimony that goes
24	beyond the witnesses and subjects timely disclosed pursuant to FRCP 26(a)(1).
25	30(b)(6) Witnesses
26	Defendants also object to any of Waymo's witnesses testifying about "the subjects of the 27	Rule 30(b)(6) topic(s) for which [they were] designated as Waymo's corporate witness" to the extent those topics go beyond the subjects disclosed in Waymo's timely initial disclosures. In addition to being untimely, there is no guarantee that these witnesses even have personal knowledge over those subjects. See Cooper v. United Air Lines, Inc., 82 F. Supp. 3d 1084, 1096 (N.D. Cal. 2015). The witnesses for which these subjects were added are Gary Brown, Dan Chu, Dmitri Dolgov, Pierre-Yves Droz, David Lawee, and Jennifer Harroon.

Destruction of Relevant Evidence

Waymo has added as a topic for numerous witnesses "the destruction of relevant evidence." Any suggestion that an Uber witness destroyed relevant evidence should be excluded under FRE 403.

New Witnesses and Topics from December Discovery

Richard Jacobs' Allegations

Defendants object to Waymo's efforts to inject the Richard Jacobs' allegations into a trial about 8 specific alleged trade secrets. For the reasons set forth in Defendants' response to Waymo's Offer of Proof regarding the Jacobs' allegations, evidence and testimony about his allegations, including those relating to ephemeral communications, non-attributable devices, the improper use of the attorney client privilege, Uber's competitive intelligence practices, Uber's knowledge of Jacobs' allegations, Uber's investigation into Jacobs' allegations, and Uber's settlement with Jacobs, should be excluded under FRE 402 and 403 and because of the significant evidentiary problems with much of the evidence supporting Waymo's Offer of Proof. See Dkt. No. 2503 & Appendix A. The new witnesses added for the Jacobs' allegations include Mat Henley, Richard Jacobs, Joe Spiegler, Rey Allie, Nick Gicinto, Jake Nocon, Ed Russo, Joe Sullivan, and Craig Clark. The previously disclosed witnesses for which the new topics were added include Travis Kalanick, Angela Padilla, Lior Ron, Justin Suhr, Eric Tate, Salle Yoo, and Arturo Gonzalez.

Ephemeral Messaging

Defendants further object to Waymo's efforts to add new witnesses and expand the topics for existing witnesses on the subject of Uber's use of ephemeral messaging. Waymo was aware in June 2017 that Uber used ephemeral communications but chose not to make it an issue in this litigation. Dkt. No. 2503 at 2-3, 12-13. The new witnesses on the topic of ephemeral messaging include Mat Henley, Richard Jacobs, Rey Allie, Nick Gicinto, Jake Nocon, Ed Russo, Joe Sullivan, and Craig Clark. The previously disclosed witness for which the topic of ephemeral communications was added is Lior Ron. Mr. Ron was even asked about his use of ephemeral communications to communicate with Mr. Levandowski at his deposition in June before the deadline for amendment of initial disclosures. See Dkt. No. 2503 at 13. Waymo's failure to disclose these witnesses and the topic of ephemeral communications violates FRCP 26(a)(1) and should be excluded pursuant to FRCP 37(c)(1).

For the same reasons, Defendants object to Waymo's attempt to add one of its own employees, Scott Johnston, as a witness to talk about Waymo's use of ephemeral communications. Waymo had an opportunity to make ephemeral communications an issue in this case as far back as June 2017 and chose not to do so. Its failure to disclose Mr. Johnston violates FRCP 26(a)(1) and he should be excluded pursuant to FRCP 37(c)(1).

Experts

Paul French and Bruce Hartley

Defendants object to any testimony from Waymo's "rebuttal" expert reports from French and Hartley because their purpose is not "solely to contradict or rebut evidence on the same subject matter identified by another [party's expert]." Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a)(2)(D)(ii). Rebuttal expert reports "are not . . . the proper place for presenting new arguments" and must be limited to the opposition report's subject matter. R&O Const. Co. v. Rox Pro Int'l Grp., Ltd., No. 2:09-CV-01749-LRH-LR, 2011 WL 2923703, at *2 (D. Nev. July 18, 2011). But instead of rebutting Laykin's report, French's and Hartley's reports present new arguments on Google's reasonable efforts to protect the alleged trade secrets' secrecy; a necessary element to trade secret misappropriation. Kirola v. City & Cty. of San Francisco, No. C-07-3685 SBA (EMC), 2010 WL 373817, at *2 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 29, 2010) ("[T]his expert opinion could not be considered rebuttal evidence because its purpose was to support an element of the plaintiffs' . . . claim."). They also provide additional information regarding the reliability of the forensic investigation conducted by Gary Brown and Kristinn Gudjonsson and the soundness of the conclusions Mr. Brown and Mr. Gudjonsson reached. Any testimony concerning these opinions, on which Waymo bears the burden of proof, should have been disclosed in Waymo's opening reports and are untimely on rebuttal. Preclusion of the French and Hartley's testimony on these topics is "automatic and mandatory" since Waymo cannot show that their failure to comply was "justified or harmless." R&O, 2011 WL 2923703, at *3. Lambertus Hesselink Defendants object to Dr. Hesselink's testimony found in paragraphs 65 to 72 of his expert report as set forth in Otto Trucking's Daubert motion found at Docket No. 1610. Dr. Hesselink's opinion on Waymo's protections of its trade secrets is merely a recitation of information found in the declarations of fact witnesses, one of whom admits that he does not have any personal knowledge of the SVN server and that the other information he attested to does not apply to that server. Gary Brown and Kristinn Gudjonsson

In addition to the objections stated above, Defendants object to any expert testimony by Gary Brown or Kristinn Gudjonsson for the reasons stated in Otto Trucking's Daubert motion found at Docket No. 1620. Mr. Brown and Mr. Gudjonsson's opinions are unreliable and misleading, and they do not have the requisite expertise to opine and testify about the SVN server.

Testimony by Deposition

Waymo has listed all or nearly all of the non-Waymo witnesses as potential witnesses to be called by deposition. Defendants object to each and every witness to the extent they do not meet the requirements of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 32.

French is one of Waymo's rebuttal expert witnesses. 28

Plaintiff Waymo LLC ("Waymo") hereby objects to the following witnesses on Defendants Uber and Ottomotto's ("Uber") witness lists.

Waymo's Experts Lambertus Hesselink, Gregory Kintz, and Paul French: Uber discloses on its witness list two expert witnesses who submitted expert reports on Waymo's behalf and upon whom Waymo intends to rely at trial (Hesselink and French)¹, as well as the expert upon whom Waymo relied during the preliminary injunction phase (Kintz) and upon whom Waymo does not intend to rely at trial. Uber should not be permitted to call Waymo's experts as witnesses in Uber's case because doing so would be unduly prejudicial to Waymo.

Permitting Uber to call Waymo's experts at trial will substantially prejudice the jury against Waymo. Forcing Waymo's experts to testify fails Federal Rule of Evidence 403's balancing test. Allowing a party to call the retained expert of the opposing party should only occur when there is no other expert who can provide the jury with similar evidence. See e.g. Agron v. Trustees of Columbia Univ. in City of New York, 176 F.R.D. 445, 450 (S.D.N.Y. 1997) (distinguishing its decision to require only a limiting instruction restricting the defendant from mentions of the expert's prior retention by the plaintiff on the basis that the expert's testimony was unique). Where, as here, Uber has its own retained experts that have offered opinions on the same issues as Waymo's experts, the issues on which Uber would offer Waymo's experts to testify about would be duplicative of the issues Uber's experts will testify about. The fact that a particular expert was originally retained by Waymo is far too prejudicial to risk a limiting instruction. "It may be possible to keep this explosive fact from the jury at trial, but there seems little reason to require the effort if other expert witnesses are available." Rubel v. Eli Lilly & Co., 160 F.R.D. 458, 461 (S.D.N.Y. 1995) (citing 8 C. Wright, A. Miller & R. Marcus, Federal Practice and Procedure: Civil § 2032, at 447 (1994)); see also Jasty v. Wright Med. Tech., Inc., 528 F.3d 28 (1st Cir. 2008)(upholding the district court's decision to not compel defendant's expert to testify because there was an "absence of any showing of a need for [the plaintiff] to call the witness"); Peterson v. Willie, 81 F.3d 1033, n.4 (11th Cir. 1996) ("While it may generally be possible to permit a party to call a witness without disclosing the fact of his or her prior engagement by the opposing party, there may be little reason to require this effort if other expert witnesses are readily available.). Here, Uber's own expert witnesses are available to testify. It would be unduly prejudicial for Uber to call Waymo's experts as witnesses and inform the jury that they are Waymo's witnesses. If they have already testified in Waymo's case, then this will already be clear to the jury. Since Uber has its own experts opining on these same issues—albeit taking differing views—there is no substantial need for Uber to rely on Waymo's experts. Uber should be precluded from doing so.

Larry Page: Uber should be precluded from calling Alphabet's CEO and Google cofounder as a trial witness. Mr. Page was deposed in the case and does not have unique and personal knowledge of the facts at issue and the evidence Uber seeks to present can be presented through less intrusive methods. Celerity, Inc. v. Ultra Clean Holding, Inc., No. C 05-4374, 2007 WL 205067, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 25, 2007) (explaining the standard for seeking an apex deposition). The subject matter of the testimony Uber intends to present from Mr. Page is duplicative of testimony that it can present through other, non-apex witnesses. Much of the subject matter of his proposed testimony is also irrelevant.

Uber says that Mr. Page will testify regarding development and operation of Waymo's autonomous vehicle program. All parties have several engineers on their witness lists that can cover the same subject matter. Further, Uber also includes on its list Sebastian Thrun, who led the Chauffeur effort at Google, to testify on the same subject matter. Uber also says that Mr. Page will testify regarding Levandowski's departure from Waymo; again, several other witnesses on the parties' witness lists are identified to provide testimony about this, including several Uber employees, John Krafcik, and Chris Urmson. And finally, Uber says that Mr. Page will testify regarding "side businesses." As Waymo previously explained, argument, evidence, or testimony about "side businesses" should be precluded. (Dkt. 851.) It is not relevant and is likely to confuse the jury. Whether Levandowski was permitted to start "side businesses" has no bearing on whether he stole Waymo trade secrets and whether Uber misappropriated Waymo trade secrets. If Uber is permitted to introduce argument, evidence, or testimony regarding "side businesses", there is a risk that the jury will be misled and confused into thinking Levandowski's conduct at issue in this case was approved—it was not. Even if permitted, however, Uber disclosed several other witnesses to testify on this subject matter, including John Krafcik, Sebastian Thrun, Chris Urmson, and Dmitri Dolgov.

Uber further says that Mr. Page will testify on Waymo's business plans, knowledge of discussions with Uber regarding a partnership in the self-driving vehicle/ride-sharing space, knowledge of the Chauffeur Bonus Plan, and concerns about competition from others. Much of this subject matter is covered by Waymo's Motion in Limine No. 1, which was granted. And there are many witnesses on both sides' witness lists who can testify about the self-driving/ride-sharing market. There is no need for Uber to burden Mr. Page and Alphabet by having Mr. Page called to testify at trial on subject matter that can be provided by any number of witnesses.

Additionally, for the first time in Uber's November 17, 2017 Amended Witness List, Uber disclosed that it may call Mr. Page by deposition. Uber did not previously disclose him to testify by deposition in its original Witness List.

Sergev Brin: Uber should be precluded from calling Alphabet's President and Google's co-founder as a trial witness. Mr. Brin was also deposed in the case and does not have unique and personal knowledge of the facts at issue and the evidence Uber seeks to present can be presented through less intrusive methods. Celerity, No. C 05-4374, 2007 WL 205067, at *3. The subject matter of the testimony Uber intends to present from Mr. Brin is duplicative of testimony that it can present through other, non-apex witnesses. Indeed, Uber says he will testify on topics that are identical to those disclosed for Mr. Page. As discussed above, there are other witnesses who can present this testimony. Further, as discussed above, much of the subject matter of Mr. Brin's proposed testimony is also irrelevant. There is no need for Uber to burden Mr. Brin and Alphabet by having Mr. Brin called to testify at trial on subject matter that can be provided by any number of witnesses.

Additionally, for the first time in Uber's November 17, 2017 Amended Witness List, Uber disclosed that it may call Mr. Brin by deposition. Uber did not previously disclose him to testify by deposition in its original Witness List.

Anthony Levandowski: Uber disclosed Anthony Levandowski to testify on several issues. Uber cannot use Levandowski's assertion of the Fifth Amendment privilege as a shield and then call Levandowski to trial to try to benefit from an adverse inference. This has been Uber's modus operandi throughout the case—hiding behind both Levandowski's Fifth Amendment privilege and alleged common interest privileges except when beneficial to Uber. The Court recognized an example of Uber's gamesmanship in this regard at the August 16 hearing on Waymo's motion, related to Uber's belated disclosure of Mr. Levandowski's purported destruction of the five discs of downloaded Waymo files in March 2016, calling Uber's conduct a "slick" practice. (Dkt. 1261 at 44:13-45:3.) Since that hearing, Uber has continued this improper practice – selectively relying on helpful communications with Mr. Levandowski, while concealing those they decide would hurt their litigation position.

As Waymo laid out in its Supplemental Brief on its Motion for Order to Show Cause (Dkt. 1502), Uber has coordinated with Levandowski to get help in the case, but relied upon privilege assertions to avoid revealing discovery into the nature or scope of that cooperation. For example, calendar invitations show that Levandowski participated in meetings with Uber executives and attorneys to discuss litigation strategy well after he plead the Fifth Amendment and purportedly refused to cooperate with Uber's investigation. Similarly, at Levandowski's August 22 deposition, Uber's counsel asked him questions purporting to demonstrate his refusal to cooperate, and he refused to answer. But, when Waymo asked questions about this purported non-cooperation, Uber instructed him not to answer on privilege grounds. Uber cannot have it both ways, picking and choosing when its communications with Levandowski are protected by common interest privileges, and when those communications or non-responses about those communications can be used against Waymo.

Now, after a long history of picking and choosing which communications are privileged and which are not, Uber wants to call Levandowski as a witness at trial and ask questions, which will presumably not be answered, so that Uber can get an adverse inference. This is not fair and another classic example of improperly using a privilege assertion as a sword and a shield. This Court should not permit Uber to call Levandowski as a witness and affirmatively rely on adverse inferences taken from his refusal to testify.

David Drummond: Uber disclosed David Drummond to testify by deposition only. Waymo reserves the right to call Mr. Drummond in relation to Uber's designated testimony.

John Bares. For the first time in its November 17, 2017 Amended Witness List, Uber disclosed Uber consultant John Bares to testify by deposition. He is also disclosed as a witness who Uber may call if the need arises, as he was previously disclosed. Mr. Bares is a former Uber engineer and Uber's counsel has represented he is an Uber consultant. As an Uber consultant, Waymo believes that Mr. Bares is in Uber's control and Uber has not shown that he is "unavailable" under Fed. R. Evid. 804 such that Uber can rely on his deposition testimony. Moreover, Uber has refused to disclose the terms of the consulting agreement with Mr. Bares, and has not denied that if Uber were to direct Mr. Bares to attend trial, that Mr. Bares would be contractually obligated to attend. Waymo will continue to try to work with Uber to resolve this issue.

John Facciola. For the first time in its January 19, 2018 Second Amended Witness List, Uber disclosed Georgetown professor John Facciola as a Will Call witness to testify about "his involvement in and knowledge of Uber's data retention policies and programs" and "knowledge of best practices in data retention." Uber did not identify Mr. Facciola in any of its interrogatory or Court-Ordered responses. Uber also did not offer a date for Mr. Facciola's deposition, and to the contrary aggressively sought to limit the number of depositions Waymo could take even for those witnesses that were identified in interrogatory and Court-Ordered responses. (See, e.g., 12/7/2017 A. Gonzalez email at 12:32 PM; 12/7/2017 A. Gonzalez email at 2:02 PM; 12/8/2017 A. Gonzalez email; 12/18/2017 A. Gonzalez email.) Yet based on Uber's description of the expected testimony, Uber has been well aware of this subject matter for the entire duration of the case. Accordingly, Uber should be precluded from relying on any testimony from Mr. Facciola testimony at trial.

In addition, Uber appears to be seeking to introduce expert testimony from Mr. Facciola, regarding "best practices in data retention," without having made any of the required disclosures

1 pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 26(a)(2) or Dkt. 669 & 697. Any testimony from Mr. Facciola 2 regarding "best practices in data retention" should be excluded on these grounds as well. 3 Patrick Oot. As with Mr. Facciola, for the first time in its January 19, 2018 Second Amended Witness List, Uber disclosed Mr. Oot as a Will Call witness to testify about "his 4 5 involvement in and knowledge of Uber's data retention policies and programs" and "knowledge of best practices in data retention." Uber did not identify Mr. Oot in any of its interrogatory or 6 7 Court-Ordered responses. Uber also did not offer a date for Mr. Oot's deposition, and to the 8 contrary aggressively sought to limit the number of depositions Waymo could take even for those 9 witnesses that were identified in interrogatory and Court-Ordered responses. (See, e.g., 12/7/2017 10 A. Gonzalez email at 12:32 PM; 12/7/2017 A. Gonzalez email at 2:02 PM; 12/8/2017 A. Gonzalez email; 12/18/2017 A. Gonzalez email.) Yet based on Uber's description of the expected 11 testimony, Uber has been well aware of this subject matter for the entire duration of the case. 12 13 Accordingly, Uber should be precluded from relying on any testimony from Mr. Oot testimony at 14 trial. In addition, Uber appears to be seeking to introduce expert testimony from Mr. Oot, 15 16 regarding "best practices in data retention," without having made any of the required disclosures 17 pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. Proc. 26(a)(2) or Dkt. 669 & 697. Any testimony from Mr. Oot regarding 18 "best practices in data retention" should be excluded on these grounds as well. 19 "Substance of Testimony" Witness List Disclosures. Uber previously objected to several of Waymo's trial witnesses on the ground that the subject matter on which they are 20 21 disclosed to testify was not adequately identified in Waymo's Corrected Supplemental Initial 22 Disclosures. (Dkt. 2253.) To the extent Uber raises that objection, Waymo reserves the right to 23 object to Uber's trial witnesses on the same grounds. 24 DATED: January 23, 2018 QUINN EMANUEL URQUHART & SULLIVAN, LLP 25 By /s/ Charles K.
